| 8  | What action shall be availableon upward amendedinvoice/debit notes, where theupward amended invoice/debitnotes is Saved by supplier andthe same is not filed?                | The recipient will not be able to take an action on anupward amended invoice/debit notes, if the saidamended record has only been saved by supplier inGSTR-1/GSTR-1A/IFF but the same record has not beenfiled.The recipient will be able to take action once the supplierfiles such record.                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 9  | What to do in case wronginvoice is corrected byissuance of Credit Note by thesupplier instead of amendingthe same and such Credit notehas been rejected by therecipient? | In the absence of linkage of Credit Note with the corresponding invoices, system cannot understand whether original invoice for this Credit Note was accepted or rejected.Therefore, if the invoice is not correct, then it is advisable to rectify the mistake through amendment of invoices in the GSTR 1 instead of issuance of a Credit Note.                                                                                                                                           |
| 10 | Can the Credit Note be kept aspending in IMS? If no, thenwhy?                                                                                                                            | Credit Note cannot be kept pending in the IMS by therecipient as the supplier has reduced its outward taxliability at the time of issuance of credit note.IMS does not change the existing flow where thedocuments/records reported by the supplier in the GSTR1 is accepted and corresponding impact is reflected inthe GSTR 2B. Now because of IMS, an additional optionhas been provided to recipient to reject the credit note ifit does not belong to him. |
| 11 | Whether liability can be addedin the same GSTR 3B in casewhere credit note has beenrejected by the recipient beforefiling of GSTR 3B by thesupplier?                         | No, if a credit note is rejected by the recipient, theliability of the supplier is increased on the portal to thatextent in the GSTR 3B of subsequent tax period and notin the GSTR 3B of same tax period.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
